The Way Women Work in the south.

Not long ago at Atlanta, Ga., 1000 women and girls applied for work. Two weeks ago the superintendent advertised that he would need a force of over 200 additional women and girls, to whom steady work would be given and good wages paid. From that day to this he has not seen a dozen applicants, and is afraid he will either have to give up the plan of running at night, or fetch his experts from the north. Not only does he fail to get enough force for double running, but he cannot maintain a full force for day running. There is not a day that there are not vacant places. He has in the first place too light a force, and in the second place it is composed of irregular workers who come three or four days in the week and stay away the rest of the time. He has had on his books over three times as many operatives as he now has at work, but they have started and stopped until scarcely any of the original force are left. What is the cause of this change? Is it not that the work is not remunerative? A faithful hand can make good wages, and an ordinary hand can clear $3 or $4 a week. It is not that the work is not pleasant, for the building is comfortable, warm, well ventilated, and the hours and rates of work are the same as those of other factories. The answer is that Southern women have never been taught to work. They have been accustomed to rely entirely upon the men of the family for a support, and do nothing themselves. One of the officers of the mill says that a girl will come to the mill for work. She will work a few days, and will then get tired and say: "I am going to quit. My daddy has supported me all my life, and I reckon he can do it yet!" This officer says: "They actually seem to have no idea of work—as the women of the North understand it. They know nothing of the steady, plodding, faithful operatives of the great cities, who will never lose an hour's work in three month's time, and who are thrifty, careful and ambitious. In the North the girls of a poor family contribute just as regularly, and frequently just as heartily, to the common support as the men do. In the South we see nothing of this kind. The girls seem to think they have no responsibility at all."

General Toombs for Grant and an Empire.

Atlanta, Georgia, Corr. Philadelphia Times.
I met the General the other day and asked him who would be the next President.

"Grant," he replied promptly. "He will be the next President, and the last President."

"After Grant—what?"

"The Empire, by G—d! I am ready for it. It is part of the inevitable. When the North by the Fourteenth and Fifteenth Amendments injected 500,000 savages into the belly of the Constitution, they made popular government impossible. Grant is a man of power. Alice Stephens thinks he is the greatest man, probably, in public life to-day. I like him well enough myself; a d—d sight better than I do any of his crowd. He has to a pre-eminent degree what will command the irresolution of these times. And that is a dauntless courage."

"Is there no Democrat who has the same quality?"

"None, unless it is Bayard. He comes of the purest and bravest strain of blood that ever flowed through American veins. If he has the nerve of the old Bayard, who turned his back on Burr and his party because he said Burr had led the party where no clean handed gentleman could follow it, he will do. I suspect the blood is not losing its temper. Tom Bayard's father gave us a hint of the old spirit in 1860, when he left the Senate, because he would not swear that he did not sympathize with the South. But if Grant wants the Presidency, and I think he does, it will take a man that can meet the lightning open-eyed to stay his steps to the White House. Once in there, you might as well try to tear the lightning from its seat in the clouds as to get him out. But let it come. Grant and Empire. That is the prophecy of an unrepentant rebel!"

An Elopement from a Harem.

The ex-Khadidja of Egypt has just lost one of his wives from his harem. A handsome young Italian painter named d'Elia went sketching through the harem grounds. He noticed a beautiful odalisque at one of the windows, and some way managed to establish a telegraphic communication with her, which was soon followed by a romantic elopement and marriage. How he managed to get her out of the harem is a mystery. The young couple are now living happily at Foggia, and since they are man and wife the King dive can't claim his former favorite. He is determined in future to keep his wives from the windows for fear of more elopements. The young lady in question is said to be a French woman.

The ladies of Reno and vicinity are invited to call and see the large and splendid assortment of Toilet and Fancy articles just received from New York by Osburn & Shoemaker, which they are selling at greatly reduced prices.

A Spook at Owingsville, Kentucky.

A truly awful spook is skylarking at Owingsville, Ky. Mrs. Goodpaster solemnly avers that her husband had gone to Fleming county to mill, and she was washing some clothes, when she went out of doors for something, and on looking up saw over a field near by something like a man suspended in mid-air about twenty feet above the tops of the trees. The figure was making gestures of all kinds, but spoke not a word. It would throw its hands wildly, then fold its arms, then clasping its hands and drawing up its knees assume the attitude of prayer, and then begin its wild gestures again. When Mrs. Goodpaster first saw it she called her mother-in-law, who lives with her, and she too saw it, but was so frightened that she would not stay out, but ran into the house and hid. Mrs. Goodpaster's children went out, and with their mother continued to look at it for about twenty-five minutes, when all of a sudden the figure began to ascend and continued to rise until it had vanished from view. The figure was tall and slender, with a long neck, and was seen distinctly by Mrs. Goodpaster, her mother-in-law and her entire family, all of whom give about the same description, and leave no doubt but that they saw something; but what it was, or who it was, they are unable to say. Mr. Goodpaster being away from home his mother took this figure as a certain omen of his death, and sent post-haste for him by his two eldest sons, who were surprised to meet him on his way home.

Cinchona Rastra.

There are now two kinds of drunkenness, continuous and periodical. Either kind may be termed in all respects, a disease. That it is such is proved by the one fact—afflicted parties are frequently compelled to drink against their will or better judgment. Nothing will restrain them; neither the prayers of friends, the tearful entreaties of wives and children, nor the imminent ruin of their private affairs.

The CURE—Cinchona Rastra.

Cinchona bark was introduced into Europe about the year 1605, but it was not until 1777 that the plant producing it was known to naturalists. In that year, a Frenchman on a journey to Lima, Peru, had the opportunity of examining the tree, a description of which (upon his return to Paris) he published in the Memoirs of the French Academy. So it was thereafter, Linnaeus, the botanist, gave it the name of "Cinchona officinalis" in honor of the Countess of Cinchon, wife of the Viceroy of Peru, who had been healed miraculously (as the Jesuits of the day believed) by drinking from a pool of water into which the top of one of these trees, blown down by the wind, had fallen.

Cinchona stands at the head of all tonics. When taken into the stomach a pure tincture of it usually excites in a short time a warmth which diffuses itself over the whole body. After some moments have elapsed the circulation experiences its influence, as exhibited in the somewhat increased frequency of the pulse; and, after a few doses are given at regular intervals, the whole system becomes more or less beneficially affected, and all the functions undergo a moderate degree of excitement. Its action upon the nervous system is often evinced by a sense of tension, or fullness or slight pain in the head, singing in the ears, &c., overexciting brings partial temporary drowsiness. But, besides the mere excitation of the ordinary functions of health, it produces other effects upon the system which must be considered peculiar and independent of its mere tonic operation. That power by which, when administered in the intervals between the paroxysms of disease it intermits the progress of the malady, is something more than what is understood by the tonic property; for no other substance, however powerful or pernicious may be the excitement which it produces, exercises a control over periodic afflictions at all comparable to Cinchona.

In all pernicious diseases, such as occasional "spreeing" and ague, there are intervals of rest or freedom from the effects of the train of morbid actions going on in the recesses of the nervous system, and but one remedy is known which has the power during this intermission of preventing a return of the condition experienced prior to its administration. That remedy is Cinchona Rastra.

Exactly how it does this has not yet been satisfactorily explained; but that it does have been acknowledged for over a hundred years. Indeed, all well-endowed and experienced medical men admit that Cinchona has this wonderful anti-periodic property. Prepared and sold by Dr. R. D'Unger, Palmer House, Chicago, Illinois.

It is marvelous what awful shocks the British Constitution can survive. "My Lords," said Lord Chancellor Egerton, "if you should abolish the ancient pastime of cock-fighting you would sap the foundation of the Constitution and endanger the stability of the throne."

Forty-four and four-tenths per cent. of the white people who took the yellow fever during the last epidemic in Memphis are said to have died; of the black people 16-10 per cent died. There were altogether 1,587 cases of fever, and 487 deaths, a total death percentage of 31.6-10.

A strange relic has just been presented to the State of Arkansas. It is a white leather belt with the imprint across it of a bloody hand. It was worn by Col. Archibald Yell, who, fighting desperately on the field of Bueno Vista, got a desperate wound, and in trying to tear away the belt left the red finger marks.

Extravagance in language is one of the peculiarities of the people in Southern countries. Castellar, on hearing the long-winded testimony of his countrymen commented upon rather severely, replied: "You are perfectly right, gentlemen, but you don't know how difficult it is to hold one's tongue in Spanish."

One of the most refined clubs in the United States, in all its appointments, is the Somerset at Boston, and what adds to its attractions to some visitors, is that the members do not talk exclusively of stocks, horses or their relations with the fair sex. The leading social club at Philadelphia and Baltimore are very homely in their appointments.

The following communication from a resident of Arkansas was received by a prominent commission house of New Orleans: "Your bill received; would remit but am in bed—shot behind my counter. Will be up in a day or two. We are rid of both and could spare more. We have fine country."

Spain has 92 dukes, 866 marquises, 632 counts, 92 viscounts, 93 barons. The whole number of persons bearing the titles of duke, marquis, earl, viscount, baron and lord in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland is somewhere about 900, but of these only some 400 have seats in the House of Lords. Most of the rest bear merely courtesy titles.

A practical joke played by one angler on his companion at Cléchy, in France, terminated in a tragical manner. They were fishing, near each other on the banks of the Seine, when one laid down his rod, threw two big stones into the river and then hid himself behind a tree. The other, hearing the splash, turned round, and not seeing his friend, thought he had fallen into the water and sunk; he jumped to save him, but was carried away and drowned.

A water spaniel recently followed his master into a machine shop in Pulaski, N. Y., and while wagging his tail barks got too close to an oily shaft which was making 150 revolutions per minute. The hairs were long and were wrapped once around the shaft before the dog got ready to wag his tail the other way. The shaft made 87½ revolutions in 15 seconds, and the dog likewise, before his master discovered his predicament and released him. After his adventure the spaniel was very much out of breath, but was not seriously hurt.

At New Philadelphia, Ohio, a huge dog in attempting to scale a high fence into a yard, missed his calculations and landed at the bottom of a well, sixty feet deep. The family thought the water rather "riley" next morning, but could not account for it. About noon the hired girl, upon looking into the well, discovered a pair of gleaming eyes staring at her from the bottom. Help was obtained and the dog drawn up. He was in the well about fifteen hours and kept alive by swimming all the time.

All the preparations have been made at Rome to bring out on the 1st of January the Pope's new journal and official organ, entitled the Avvenire. He himself will be its leading spirit, but he has appointed Prof. Don Pietro Belan, an author and under-keeper of the Vatican archives, to be the editor-in-chief. Monsignor Schifano and many other learned men have also been intrusted with editorial positions. Simultaneously another little sheet, similarly inspired and directed, will appear for circulation among the lower classes of the people.

LEW WALKER'S BREAKFAST.

He Lightens the Load of the Vallejo Boot Restaurant.

A GAERTE reporter, who was a fellow passenger with the famous epicure whose name heads these lines, dropped his anchor alongside of him at the breakfast table and had an opportunity of learning the secret of the massive vest, on his recent trip to San Francisco.

Lew had staved his appetite with a light lunch at Sacramento, but as soon as the breakfast bell rang he found his way to the dining room, and said to the polite waiter: "Now son, if you have anything good, bring it on." As the boat made the turn and headed south, a plate of steaming oat meal mush and a pitcher of yellow cream was placed before him, and he cleared for action. Five middling sized tom-toms had followed the oat meal before the "Yosemite" had reached San Pablo Bay. As the boat passed the "Two Sisters," half a broiled chicken was on the table. When the "Two Brothers" were reached it was a heap of bones.

Herkner, the proprietor, saw the waiter hurrying past with a veal cutlet, breaded, and his heart sank as he thought of the weekly bills soon due.

At Angel Island he had come to buckwheat cakes and maple syrup, and as the boat touched the pier, he swallowed a cup of black coffee, and sadly laying down four bits, took up his valise and walked.

THE SILVER STATE MINSTRELS.

The Silver State Minstrels gave their first performance last night, in the Nevada Theatre. As it is a home troupe of amateurs the audience showed great interest in the performance. The entertainment was one of the best ever given by an amateur troupe in the state. Hudson, the "Bones," displayed considerable talent; Cook as a tambourine acquitted himself creditably, and White made a good middle man. Joe Dillman's stump speech was happily delivered, and Barnett's piano solo well executed. The singing by Stanaway, White, and Parks was excellent, while Lake as the "Old Man" sustained the character to the life. The orchestra, under the direction of Prof. Kauflman, furnished excellent music. The concert was a financial success, the boys playing to a $150 house. The troupe desire to thank Hammond & Wilson for favors and the public for their patronage.

WHAT IT COSTS TO RAISE A BUSHEL OF WHEAT.

The following statement of the cost of raising a bushel of wheat in the Mississippi valley is furnished by a correspondent of the New York Star:

To raise an acre of wheat costs as follows—assume the yield to be twenty bushels per acre:

Ploughing $1.00

Harrowing, two ice 30

1 1/2 bushels seed wheat at 75c per bushel 25

Walter M. Thomas Takes His Life for the Time Being.

A Pistol Shot—Its Strange Effect—The Queer Case of Attempted Suicide on Record.

The report of a pistol, followed by groans and cries, occasioned considerable excitement near the GAZETTE office this afternoon. People ran from all directions to learn the cause of the disturbance. A report soon circulated that Walter M. Thomas had committed suicide by shooting himself. The facts of the case proved upon investigation to be as follows: Thomas used to be a policeman and is well known in Reno.

TRROUBLE HAD MADE HIM DESPONDENT

and he determined, to put an end to his existence. A little before 2 o'clock this afternoon he retired to a room in his house on Sierra street, a few doors north of the GAZETTE office, and made his final preparations for death. His chosen instrument of destruction was an English "bulldog" pistol. Pressing the muzzle of the weapon against the vest, Thomas pulled the trigger, and when he heard the report and fell back upon the bed. The report alarmed his daughter and a young man who was in the house, and rushing into the room, they bore his lifeless body into the adjoining parlor. Dr. Dawson was hastily summoned and soon was at the house. At sight of the prostrate form of Thomas, he remarked that he couldn't be much hurt. The Dr. then proceeded to follow the traces of the bullet, and found upon examination that the missile had penetrated the clothing but not the skin of his patient. It had made Goebel.

A distinguished scientist once said: "No man with a strong and healthy stomach ever committed suicide;" and yet many are suffering the tortures of the damned with Dyspepsia, when a single bottle of Mrs. Myrin's English Dandelion, Liver and Balsom Pills will give relief, and, if persisted in, will cure the worst case of this distressing trouble. This pill cures Torpid Liver and Biliousness, regulates the bowels, removes pimples from the face, cures salivary complexion, foul breath, sick headache, heartburn, pain in the sides and back; is sugar-coated, and GUARANTEED to be PURELY VEGETABLE. It acts directly upon the coating of the stomach and on the liver; can be taken in any climate—wet or dry weather. Beware of imitations. The genuine has an engraving of a lion on the outside wrapper. Price 50 cents. For sale by Osburn & Shoemaker, druggists.

JEWELRY

$75.00 worth for $15.00.

Gold Abyssinian Gold Watch
FREE!! FREE!! FREE!!

The above offer is genuine, although at first glance it may appear otherwise. We will explain: Since we first established our business here, March 1st, 1873, we have paid particular attention to the buying of Jewelry and the direction of our business. We have often bought at as low as one-tenth their value, and in no instance have we paid over one-sixth the manufacturer's price. Since starting our house we have been able to purchase good in China, and through our regular customers throughout the country at nearly regular prices, fast as we could prepare them, but owing to the large number of manufacturers throughout this and other countries during the months of June, July and August (the time when the jewelry business is largest), we have had to pay more for our stock, and the cost of the desirable goods we have ever handled, and which we have bought at lower prices than ever before. In order to dispose of this entire stock in the most expeditious manner, we will sell for $15.00 any one of the articles which we shall continue to buy, we have hit upon the following novel plan:

We propose to give you a list of the most desirable articles in our stock, and sell to you at the rate of Five Dollars' worth for $1. We will, for instance, receipt of $5.00, we will send you, postpaid, any article to the value of $1.00, or less, and if you desire to pay us
$1.00 extra, we will send to you an article worth $2.00, and so on throughout the entire list.
Below we give a list of the most valuable of these goods.

The Sentinel, of Chicago, Sept. 9, says: “We have just received from Taber & Co. a new advertisement of the Investors' Agency, No. 116 E. Washington street, Chicago. What the Investors' Agency agrees to do, they will do.
The Investors' Agency can do what no concern in its field can do, and that is to handle all kinds of business, and to recommend the best men to do it.”

The Chicago Express, Sept. 3, says: “The attention of readers is called to the advertisement of the Investors' Agency, No. 116 E.
Washington street, Chicago. From personal inquiry and on the recommendation of the city press, we think our friends can do what no other agency can do in this line.”

The American Stockman, Sept. 11, says:
“We believe this institution perfectly sound and responsible, and consequently persons desirous of information about sending for what they desire.”

As to our responsibility we also refer you to the Chicago Press, which says: “The Investors' Agency has a good record, and we believe it is safe to trust them with your money.”
